DOES YOUR GROUP HAVE A VOICE?

General Service Representative (G.S.R.)

"The general service representatives (G.S.R.s) of the U.S. and Canada are the very foundation of our general service structure. Through your G.S.R., you can make your group's voice heard at district meetings, at area assemblies, and eventually at the General Service Conference."

For more information about G.S.R.s, see A.A. leaflet: P-19 - G.S.R. May Be the Most Important Job in A.A.

"For a new general service representative, this leaflet outlines responsibilities and useful sources of information; for a group, what to keep in mind when electing a G.S.R." ~ Alcoholic Anonymous (A.A.)

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM FELLOW A.A. MEMBERS...

I remember when I hit my two year sobriety date, I asked my "normie" husband if he trusted me again? When I was active in my alcoholism I put us into tremendous debt, stole from him, my family and lied about everything. His response was authentic and sincere, "No, Tonia, I don't trust you, I will never trust you, but I do trust your AA program. As long as you do your AA thing, I can trust that."

He was right, left to my own devices I am a liar, thief and an awful wife, but with a program that involves service, meetings, steps and God I get to be sober, honest, and a wife my husband can trust.

The gifts of AA are never ending and now at a little over 6 years sobriety, I'm excited to see and be present for this amazing life I get to live.

Thank you,

Tonia S.

DO YOU KNOW???

The Twenty Questions – Where Did They Come From?

“The Johns Hopkins Twenty Questions: Are You An Alcoholic? was developed in the 1930s by Dr. Robert Seliger, who at that time was a faculty member in the Department of Psychiatry at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. It was intended for use as a self-assessment questionnaire to determine the extent of one's alcohol use. It was not intended to be used by professionals as a screening tool to help them formulate a diagnosis of alcoholism in their patients.” The questions have been altered slightly over time and used by Inter-group Offices on separate cards that can be shared with newcomers or people interested in testing their dependence on alcohol.

“Ya know...”

... things happen, good and not so good. But it's gonna be OK so long as I don't drink over it. It may be the worst OK in the world, but so long as I don't take that first drink, and have faith in my higher power, things will be alright.”

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM FELLOW A.A. MEMBERS...

Why Get Involved?

At Thursday night step study group several years ago, we were studying Step 7 out of the book Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions. During the course of the discussion an idea was brought forward. When we first came in to A.A. we were like withered bushes, full of dead branches and devoid of live growth, but through taking in the steps we begin to be brought back to life. The conversation only went so far as to state that, as we journey onward in recovery this process occurs. What part do we play in this process?

Several years since the initial idea had been placed, this concept has become clearer. By being willing to serve Alcoholics Anonymous our lives open up. Through service we begin to place ourselves in a position to be of service to our higher power and those amongst us. In the process some of our old hobbies, recreations, past times or interests, begin to lose their old luster, when compared to the weight of helping the man who is still sick, in whatever capacity we are needed. Effectively we are allowing our Higher Power to use us to be of maximum service and the byproduct is that we start to have some of the old dead branches of our former lives begin to be cast off.

Most of the more unhealthy parts were cast away through taking the steps, yet some still cling, those that may not necessarily be unhealthy. These bits seem to be troublesome to set aside. Left to our own devices usually these will not leave us. Yet when set against the urgency of helping your fellow alcoholic, these branches too give way. By being willing to place ourselves in a position to be useful, we are allowing our Higher Power to enter in and make way for new growth.

What new things your life has in store for you I cannot say. Yet my experience has been, thus far, beyond the greatest imagining of my early days. Coming from a man who was isolated in his room, unable to hold down a job, fearful of leaving the small radius of which I lived in, wishing for the end. Today, through being willing to place myself in the hands of my Higher Power, I get to travel all over Southern California, meet a host of friends from the Pacific Region, share in discussions on the principles of A.A., lend a hand where needed, and walk with certainty that this path is truly the way to freedom. All of this and more is possible for you as well, so long as you are willing to take the action and get involved in your recovery.

INVOLVEMENT (Noun):

“The fact or condition of being involved with or participating in something.”

CONTRIBUTIONS FROM FELLOW A.A. MEMBERS...

Hello, my name is Michael and I'm a grateful recovering alcoholic! I've been in the program for several years, attending many meetings, being of service and learning the benefits of the AA program and how it works. Through those meetings, I've heard the story of others and shared my own, about how the AA program has worked in the lives of other alcoholics and assisted in their recovery. One story, shared by a fellow member of program, his name is Bud, I don't believe he minds me sharing his name, I heard some years ago, reminds me how powerful, cunning and patient alcohol is. Bud shared that he realized he had a problem with his drinking and did approximately six months without a drink, without the benefit or guidance of the program. A friend of his asked him to assist him in moving, along with some other buddies. During the move one of fellows brought a twelve pack of beer and offered to share it with the others while they went through the laborious progress of moving their friend's stuff, e.g. furniture, household equipment, etc. Bud figured since he had gone six-months without a drink he had a good handle on his drinking, and that one beer wouldn't hurt. Later, another twelve-pack of beer was offered up and again Bud said what the hell, another beer would be just dandy. From his story the friends and associates finished moving and decided to conclude the activities of the day by going to a bar where they would have the opportunity to drink more booze, another word's, drink like "real men". Bud said he woke up the next morning, having no idea of how he got there, as a guest of the Orange County Sheriff. He also probably had a splitting headache and a dry mouth. This story reminds me that I'll always be a recovering alcoholic, that I, like Bud, will never be able to "enjoy" just one beer, glass of wine, or a mixed drink like a Tom Collins, a Daiquiri or a Cuba Libre like normal people. His story reminds me of my own where at parties, someone's house for dinner or a business lunch that one or two drinks were never enough. Like at a Christmas party where I worked, fresh out of college, they brought in this terrible sparkling wine, called Cold Duck, like a poor-man's champagne. I couldn't drink enough of that crap, and ended up not only making a horse's ass out of myself at the Christmas party, but clawing, or staggering back to my office where I passed out, woke up later and vomited into my office's trash can. Another time at a holiday party, like Thanksgiving or Christmas I got wasted on dinner wine, like horrible vine-rose, grabbed the family cat and went for a ride on my bicycle with the cat jumping off, and me crashing into a fence that got in my way. I ended up with a terrible cuts and bruises, but what the hell, it was a holiday. From my time in the program, thru prayer, self-examination and mediation I've realized my problem was not just my inability to "drink like a man", but to do life on life's terms. I suffered from fear, which I've come to realize stands for FALSE EVIDENCE APPEARING REAL! That I would worry about things that had not happened, and not likely to happen, about things that I didn't have, what people thought of me and what I believed I should have. Through the program, the Twelve Steps and AA literature, particularly Daily Reflections that I start my day off with a reading for that day, I have dealt with my character defects. One is my impatience with myself, others, situations and my higher power, the Lord Jesus Christ. I realize that my higher power, my parents and my former wife all stood behind me as I caused them grief and hopelessness with my inability to accept life on life's terms. That I didn't have was or is a gratitude list that I could refer to when people, places and situations became too challenging for me. That when I was arrested and served over two years of probation for carrying a switch-blade knife my parents stayed with me, as well when I was arrested again, one for being inebriated in public, thank the Lord it wasn't a DUO. My former wife assisted me when I struggled through college, low-paying jobs and often under tyrannical bosses, to obtain my degrees, and to find meaningful and gainful employment. My higher power while I did a multitude of sins, including infidelity, adultery and availing myself to the services of ladies of the oldest profession. They were patient with me and why should I not be patient with them. I also attempt not to judge others, realizing that I am not free of character defects that I might call others and remember the saying of the Sioux Indian tribe, "Never judge a man until you have walked in his moccasins for at least two weeks!" The three key items I am grateful for are my sobriety, my serenity and my sanity plus my worldly rewards of a loving daughter, son-in-law and grandson plus my friends through the AA program, the two celebrate recovery meetings I attend and my house of worship. These are far more valuable than a position of "importance", a high salary, other "things" such as trophy wives, a big house in an affluent neighborhood or a late model car and designer clothes from some fancy men's boutique at Fashion Island. Living in a world of "instant gratification" I must be careful that I don't fall victim to that disease, that in the final analysis, "It's God's will, and not my own!"
